Jennifer Krzynowek named Manager, Provider Development & Quality

For immediate release April 19, 2016:

Jennifer Krzynowek will assume the position of manager, provider development and quality effective May 2, 2016. She will replace Joanne Arnold, manager of program review and provider support, who is retiring June 30, 2016. Krzynowek will be responsible for planning, developing and administering activities to review and assure the quality of supports funded by the Cuyahoga County Board of DD and will oversee provider development and support, including provider compliance review functions. She will report to Amber Gibbs, general manager of community and Medicaid services.

Krzynowek has been with the Board of DD since 2012. She has served as a support administrator and, most recently, as a support administration supervisor. Prior to her employment with the Board, she worked for private provider agencies which serve individuals with developmental disabilities. Her broad range of professional duties have included case management, managing day and residential programs, developing and maintaining treatment and Individual Service Plans, and assuring quality services aligned to individuals' needs.

In announcing her appointment, Gibbs said "Jennifer's enthusiasm and vision for provider development and support make her an excellent choice for this position. Her knowledge of Ohio Dept. of DD compliance and accreditation survey processes and positive working relationships with many providers in our county will be assets as we continue to work collaboratively with our provider community."

Krzynowek, a licensed social worker, earned a bachelor's degree in social work from Ursuline College. She is currently participating in the Ohio Association of County Board's Executive Developmental Program.

A Brooklyn Heights resident, Krzynowek lives with her husband and three beautiful daughters. She enjoys reading and spending time at the lake with family.
